

Press Release

INDEPENDENCE, KY, Tuesday, September 05, 2017

Flottweg One of the Sponsors for This Year's Give Water Gala Event

Flottweg is supporting the Give Water Gala Event held by Design Outreach with a donation. The event is in support of the current LifePump project and will be held on September 21, in Columbus, Ohio. The program installs water pumps in developing countries to provide the population there with clean drinking water.

Clean drinking water is one of the essential requirements for human life. Design Outreach recognized the need of supporting developing countries with clean drinking water sources. The LifePumps reaches deep into the ground to reach water layers in the soil that are not accessible with conventional pumps. They convey water that is free of contamination and simultaneously require no further processing with filters or chemicals. Solid construction also guarantees long life spans.

Clean water is also an important pillar of corporate success at Flottweg. Their products ensure that sewage treatment plants around the world can process wastewater and return it to circulation as pure as possible. The company has a nomination for the Innovation Prize awarded by Wirtschaftszeitung for a process that allows the thickening of sewage sludge using starch-based polymers. This process avoids the introduction of synthetic polymers into the groundwater when discharging thickened sewage sludge.
